

Abstract

Processes of Capital and Labour Restructuring

Célia Regina Congilio

More education and more skills = more qualifications= employability. This equation seems simple and has often been presented in the media as one of the ways to ensure a good participation of workers in the labor market. Is it? This is what we aim to problematize with this article.

Keywords: Ideology. Work. Education.