Jacobinism and bonapartism in Marx

Paulo Barsotti

This article discusses the relationship between political society and civil society and the historical phenomenon of bonapartism in Marx. The text is divided in three parts, which deal, respectively, with the origins of the modern State, the manifestations of the autonomy of the State in the process of bourgeois revolution (jacobinism and the First Empire), and the form that this phenomenon takes in the moment of bourgeois counter-revolution (Second Empire).

Keywords: State. Politics. Bonapartism. Jacobinism. Politicism.
