Marxism, complexity and transdisciplinarity

Isabel Monal

This article represents historical materialism since The German Ideology as a transdisciplinary methodology due to the prospective character of its analysis and the crucial fact that it deals with a diversity of themes and treats its object of study as an organic whole, that is, as the study of society and its historical destiny, which makes transdisciplinarity a necessity.

Keywords: Transdisciplinarity. Historical materialism. Multidisciplinarity. Complexization.
